Hydrology®

“Hydrology is the ultimate destination for high-fashion state-of-the-art bath and kitchen furnishings. Our collection is pure, original and authentic. The Hydrology experience can be found nowhere else.”

For simple nourishment or blissful relaxation, humans have a special connection with water, the earth’s most basic resource. And when the Chicago bath and kitchen furnishings company Hydrology opened the doors to its gorgeous, 6,000-square-foot River North showroom in 2007, designers and consumers were introduced to an all-new approach to bringing water into their homes and lives.

With brothers Michael and David Kotowsky leading the charge, Hydrology has reimagined the world of bath culture in a way that evokes an exclusive, high-fashion design experience.

Hydrology’s state-of-the-art collections of baths, showers, faucets, washbasins, toilets, furniture, steam, sauna, kitchen fixtures and more are all designed and selected with three important words in mind: pure, original and authentic.

The Kotowskys started in the plumbing supply business and established The Advantage Plumbing Group in 1992. Today they travel the world visiting factories, lab-testing products and searching for the latest designs, finest materials and most advanced manufacturing techniques.

Hydrology not only sells the best in bath design—they also pioneer it. The company has partnered with German manufacturer Dornbracht to create the world’s most advanced shower experience, and it paired up with Italian firm Fantini on the highly successful Milano H faucet collection. In 2014, Hydrology will debut a new industrial-look faucet collection developed with a famous Chicago designer.

When you buy from Hydrology, you know you’re getting a superior product that has been made to last. The company believes today’s clients are not willing to settle for ordinary products and services; many of them are making a long-term investment in their primary residence, and they want high-quality bathrooms and kitchens designed to last a lifetime. Hydrology stands behind this philosophy with its exclusive Lifetime Advantage™ program, which includes Lifetime Product Warranty, 360° Technical Support™ and Project Perfect™ services.

Thanks to its superior customer service standards and in-house support team, Hydrology is able to support each client’s project every step of the way—from concept through completion and beyond.
